A string of island pearls in between the Baltic Sea capitals.

The Åland Islands are situated in the very heart of the Baltic Sea. Åland is an autonomous region in Finland, with its own flag, stamps and license plates.

On the 6,500 islands that make up the Åland Islands, you will find an exciting mix of Swedish, Finnish and Russian culture. The shipping tradition of today is just as strong as it was when the Åland Islands, in the beginning of the 1900's, featured the largest sailing-ship fleet in the world. Visitors to Mariehamn are immediately reminded of this fact when they arrive at the Port of Mariehamn, where the majestic Museum Ship Pommern is moored – the world's only four masted bark still in its original condition.

Once home port for the world's largest sailing ship fleet.

Now a town full of experiences.

Mariehamn is full of exciting activities, restaurants and sights. Everything is located within convenient distance. Because of Mariehamn's small size, it is possible to walk from the western harbour to the eastern harbor in less than 20 minutes. This makes it an ideal shopping town.

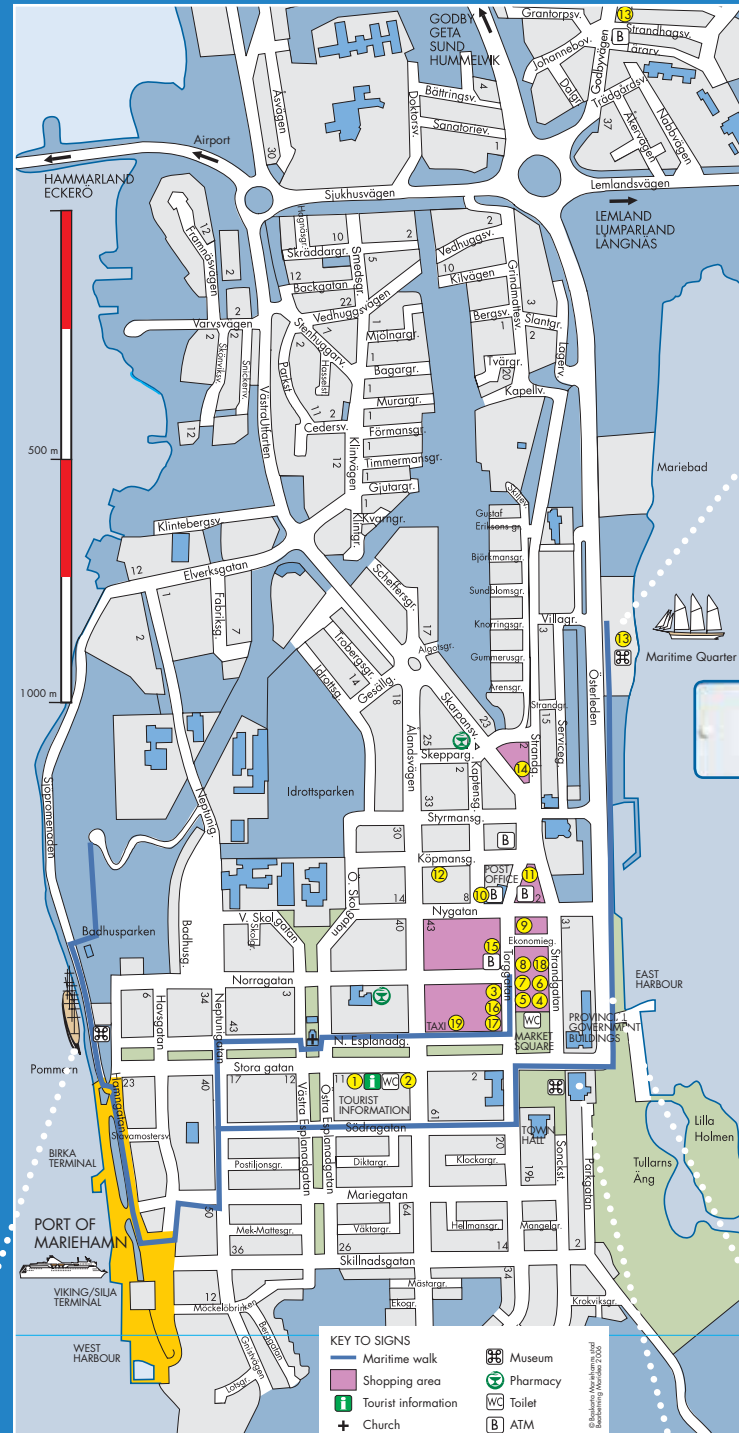

Bring home a piece of the Åland Islands. The handicrafts from the Åland Islands are a hot shopping tip. You will find lovely colors and shapes in materials such as textile, metals, glass, wood and ceramics. Genuine design with high quality characterizes craft and artwork to be found in boutiques and galleries of Mariehamn.

Museum Ship Pommern and Åland Maritime Museum

Much of the best that Mariehamn has to offer is located in the western harbour, not far from the quays. Here is for example the Maritime Museum and the Museum Ship Pommern, both world famous. They give insight into how the seamen's life was aboard ship in calm seas, storms and when the captain chased the speed record for the Australia-England sailings, a common route for these ships in the early 1900's.

Åland Museum & Art Museum

The Åland Museum depicts the local history from the Stone Age to the present day Åland society and autonomy. The Åland Art Museum presents Åland's fine arts and artists. Here you will also find special exhibitions and a museum shop.

Facts about Mariehamn:

- Capital of the Åland Islands
- 10,800 inhabitants
- Founded in 1861
- Strong maritime tradition
- The Museum Ship Pommern
- The Maritime Quarter
- The Åland Maritime Museum
- Local buses free of charge within Mariehamn

Maritime Quarter

The Maritime Quarter in the Eastern Harbor is a great place to explore the museum with exhibits of boat-building traditions in Åland. The schooner Linden and the galleass Albanus were built here in the 1990's according to old drawings and with the help of very skilled boat builders.

The licence plates of the local taxis, depicting names of legendary ships, are one of the many noticeable signs of Mariehamn's maritime history.

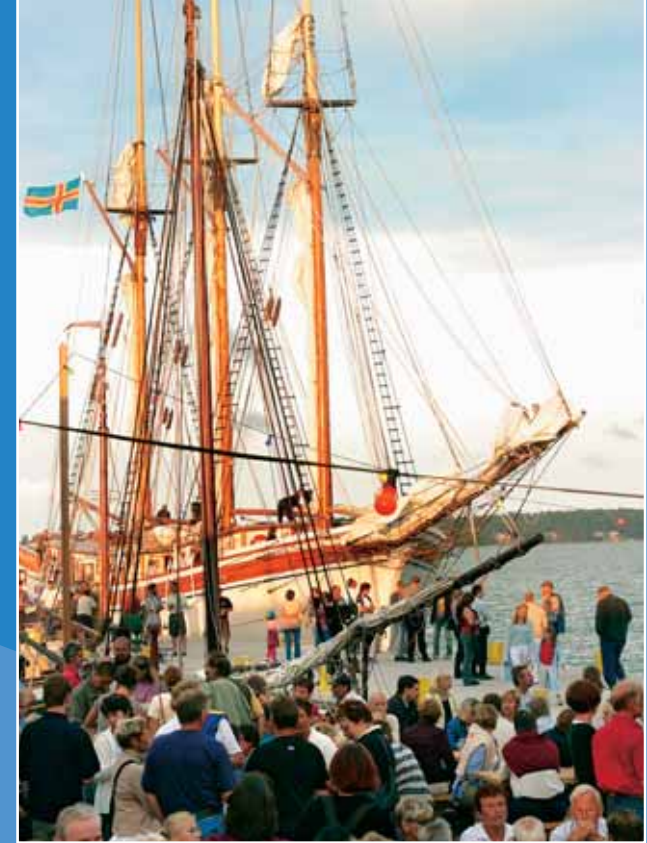

Distances in Åland:
North-South 45 km
West-East 50 km

Maritime Walk

Mariehamn has many stories to tell – about its beginning as a simple peasant village, about its Russian godmother Maria, and about all the great shipowners who have lived in the town. The town is best discovered by foot – everything is close by – take a leisurely stroll and explore Maria's town, where seafaring has always played such a vital role.

Facts about the Åland Islands:

- Autonomous, Swedish-speaking region of Finland
- Demilitarized area "The Islands of Peace"
- Own flag, stamps and license plates
- 6,500 islands
- 26,200 inhabitants
- Local currency: Euro (€)
